HOW OUR SOLDIER BOYS ARE FARING IN ENGLISH CAMPS

The following extracts from a letter received by E. E. Kitching from his nephew, J. K. Moffat, who is with the 12th O. M. R., now nearing the front, is very interesting, and gives an idea of the conditions in England. He writes from Bramshott as follows:

The recruiting campaign, as carried on over here has proved a great success, and any male who is fit and not "joined on" or not employed on some branch of government work, has a tough time of it, as posters are in every conspicuous place and fairly shriek at you, "woe unto the shirker." Old men who are absolutely incapable are the only ones not in uniform or wearing the armband which signifies that they (those wearing the armband) have been attested, which includes young and middle-aged married men, or those whose services cannot be dispensed with, and whose duties are of such a nature that women could not replace them.

There will be no cessation of the much-touted East of Derby recruiting scheme until all the men required have answered one of the many ingenious approaches—any old way, but conscription.

Before going to London my impression of the English mechanic and navvy from watching them at work here at the camp, was that a lazier, slow-moving, gang of men never came down the pike. Their tools are away behind the times. Imagine a claw hammer, which requires the assistance of a pair of pliers when a nail goes wrong. I have heard that it is a "commission" job which accounts for it. But when you get to London a radical change takes place, and more like real life, the monotonous drag of rural life is forgotten.

The amount of waste land in this vicinity covers a good many thousand acres, and although quite rough and hilly in places, the landscape, despite irregularities, is not what you would call "barren." The hills and ridges are rounded off with an evenness that resembles rise and swell. All in all the vividness of the green, the intense red of the hollyberry, with a background of evergreens, or a common with its thick tangle of heather and gorse, shrubs, and taking into consideration the endless variety of hedges used as barriers, splitting up the small fields or garden plots in the cultivated parts, and skirting the well-kept roadways everywhere, gives the vast panoramic view from any elevation a silent eloquence of great scenic beauty.

I was down to Portsmouth last week, and made a big day of it. I went over to the Isle of Wight, which is just twenty minutes by boat from Portsmouth. We got off at Ryde, which is a very neat and nicely laid-out little town which is wide awake and accustomed to tourist traffic, a welcome contrast to the slow-going methods of merchants and tradesmen on hours seen inland.

But I intended telling you about London, the city with a population equalling Canada, and which is really a nation within itself, but consisting mostly of shopkeepers, and when approaching it by train appears like a vast forest of chimney-pots o'erhanging with a smoke haze. Every house of ordinary size has from eight to fourteen pots or tiles to make the fire draw in the lazy air. The plumbing fixtures, or connections, on many of the buildings are also outside, which would look good to one who is looking for an equable climate, but the proposed person would have an awful dose of rain to contend with, which the Royal Canadian calls intolerable.

Nearly all the old-time sayings used as references of serious and frivolous meaning originated in the smoke of a "blowdown" for recess, where people afflicted with lunacy of a mild form, up to the maddest of the "mad hatters" (which also came from here), are housed in a great institution for scientific treatment. I could give you about two full pages of these off-hand sayings and origin, but will conclude with "Cad," which an Englishman applies to any who are "a bit catchy." Cad was an oldster whose full name was Cadwallader. He lived here between the eleventh and twelfth centuries, and was the proud possessor of ten thousand goats. "How about yours?"—"so never be called a Cad" as it implies such immunities and such a vast field for conjecture.

Now that you are being initiated to a few of the mysteries we propose that you are at my elbow while I reel off the "lore" of old London. You set your part with your mouth slightly ajar, drinking it all in as we go along, and if your faculties are even normal you will both see and smell smoke, also taste it, within the ten-mile circle at least, and when the yellow or black logs settle down you inhale copious draughts of it, and when you blow your nose it strongly resembles fine coal dust, and with a decidedly brown taste, but "quicker" quibbling and look sharp. We will start on Victoria Embankment, after leaving Waterloo bridge, and look at Cleopatra's Needle, a grimy obelisk "brot" over from Egypt, with carvings and scroll work of the ancient Pharaohs and deities a proper description.

Buses, taxis, trams, side-cars, cabs, pass in ceaseless procession; we take a bus to old Westminster Abbey. It is in this old place, that England's or the British Empire has its most sacred and famous relics of Royalty and great men, and below in the crypt, their resting places.

While viewing the avenues of monuments, tablets, engravings, etc., with the crude work of the Twelfth Century, the quaint expressions, and the old style of spelling and peculiarly shaped letters, you find yourself talking away with no one else in sight, saying, "Well, well!" It is at first hard to believe that these works in their crude and polished state belong to us, and among the other things deserving especial note is the gorgeous, yes lavish, display of wood carving, with the graceful and beautiful design, and although the greater part of this carving was done over five and seven centuries ago it is still well preserved, and holds its own with the best.

After visiting London twice, and going over about a score of these grand old buildings, containing museums famous the world over, old strongholds, like the Tower of London, with its instruments of torture, and other gruesome relics, and where the crown jewels are also kept and are a blaze of glory and worth oodles I expect. While there, the pal who was with me was placed in a cell and howled his loudest and we couldn't hear a murmur, the walls are so thick, and some of the oldest parts are built of "chalk" blocks of different sizes.

Space prohibits expansion, but if you want to be anybody and catch a "lady" with class and cash you simply have to have a "double-barreled" name, and after fixing that all you have to do is watch your trap-line—J. Kitching, Moffat, Police.

We have just finished our target and range work, and although it rained nearly all the time the good work went on, and now we feel quite formidable after ten days of it. We had a good old time cork-polling contest all Xmas day, and although the furniture suffered there was no casualties.

Am always glad to hear from you, Elias, old boy, and any others who care to write. This junk can be passed around and stop at that, as I am getting it copyrighted and set to music.

Your old pal,
JNO. K.

A GREAT WORK

Great Britain has recently completed in India the greatest irrigation system the world has ever known. Had it happened in the United States there would have been reports of publicity over the event. John Bull does it as part of the day's work, without any bluster or flag waving, and at once proceeds to the next job, whatever and wherever it may be.

In one part of the Punjab district of India there is a well-watered area and in another part there has been since time began a matter of 1,500,000 acres of excellent though arid land, and unless irrigated, to get the water from one district to another was the task the British set themselves, and the work is now finished. It includes 322 miles of main line and nearly 25,000 miles of branch lines, irrigating 2,200,000 acres, which will produce under cultivation yearly crops valued at $11,190,000. In comparison with this work the United States has 2,540,000 acres irrigated by twenty-five irrigation projects, that have cost the country $86,000,000, where the cost of the Punjab work has been $35,000,000.

No less interesting than the work itself is the policy of the government of the Punjab with respect to settlement on the waste land thus brought under cultivation. Some of it is reserved to raise hay for the supply and transport department and to establish military depots and farms. Much of it is to be sold by auction to the highest bidder. More is to be given to Indian soldiers who have fought for the king-emperor, retired Indians who have aided the administration, members of low castes and reformed criminals. Some will go to men who will bind themselves to plow by steam or produce approved crops and a large section is to be reserved for men who will agree to breed horses and mules for the army.

Is it any wonder, in the face of such exercise of care by the British government over its Indian subjects that all efforts of the Kaiser to incite rebellion in India have failed?

Business men, clerks, bankers, etc., will have a chance to see "The Night Stage" when it comes; it will not be shown on a Saturday night.

H. Slater, dealer in live-stock, will have his office with Ingalls & Cameron, McLearn Block, Telephone 178 or 95 for hog prices.

The farewell dance given by the young ladies of Lacombe in honor of Miss Wright, who is leaving shortly for Toronto, was a most enjoyable affair, and everybody had a good time.

The entertainment given by the returned soldiers, Wells and Peat, in the Comet on Thursday night was most interesting. The young heroes gave their audience an insight into the conditions of fighting at the front, and the good work our boys are doing.

Miss Molly Ewing, of the Canyon, S.D., was successful in winning the first prize in the recent essay contest held by the Garbutt Business College, of Calgary. The prize is a choice of a typewriter or an eight months' course in the College, worth $100. The second prize, $10.00 in gold, was won by Master Wesley Pate, of Alex, and the third prize, $5.00 in gold, was won by Miss Margaret Cooper, of Stetler. The subject of the essay was "Hawatha's Wedding Journey."

After due consideration, the Royal Bank of Canada has decided to close up their agencies at Bentley and Blackfalds on the 12th inst. The business being done in these branches does not warrant the expense of operating.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church will hold an anniversary dinner on Thursday evening, Feb. 17th. Dinner will be served in the basement of the church from 6 to 8 o'clock. Concert in the Church, Admission to dinner and concert, 50c.; children, 25c.

Rocky Mountain House is to be congratulated on the fact that J. B. Skinner, who has attempted to make life miserable for some of the respectable citizens of that town, by attacks in his paper, the "Guide," has got what is coming to him. A man discredited by a judge will have very little influence in a respectable community.

The Alberta Fish Co., Messrs. Sam Morris and J. C. Morris making up the company, will open a fish store in Lacombe on Saturday next, and will keep on hand every kind of edible fish. The firm have a branch in Red Deer. They will handle in retail and wholesale quantities. Their Lacombe location is in the store on Allen St., recently occupied by Jas. McArthur.

F. A. Beddard, Inspector of the Huron & Erie Mortgage Corporation, was in town this week and appointed the Jesse Fraser Agency agents for his company in this locality. This is one of the strongest financial concerns in Canada, and has plenty of money to loan on farms at 8 per cent. If you want loans, call at the Jesse Fraser Agency and talk it over.

Talk about yellow journalism—the "yellowest" journalist we know is J. D. Skinner, of Rocky Mountain House, who, when charged with criminal libel last week, attempted to place the blame on his wife, who helps him out by setting type for the "Guide." The judge told James he did not believe him and fined him $50 and costs and told him to send in his resignation as a Justice of the Peace, which James will probably do.

Any young man who is fit, who has nothing holding him back, should join the Canadian forces—and do it now. A young man who does not join at this time of crisis can hardly expect to keep the respect of the people with whom he associates. It is coming to the time when the "Safety First" boys will be shamed into putting on the uniform, accompanying quickly. Never in the history of the Empire were men needed more urgently than at the present time.

Young man—don't you think you would look well in uniform. Don't you think you would feel more like a man if you answered the call to arms NOW—when the Empire needs you? Get out of the "Safety First" brigade and let people see that you appreciate the privilege of living under the Union Jack, and are willing to fight to keep it flying. Have a talk with the officer commanding the 151st, in the old school building, Lacombe.

"What's His Name?" That's the question. If you want to find out visit the Rex next Saturday evening, Feb. 12th, and see the Famous Players production of the play of that name. As a guarantee that it will be a good picture (one of the best) we have but to state that it was written by George Barr McCutcheon, author of "Brewster's Millions," and who hasn't read one or more of his interesting books. And what is more the principal role will be taken by the inimitable comedian, Mr. Max Fighman. Remember at the Rex on Saturday evening next.

Bessie Barricade, the talented emotional screen star, will be seen at the Rex tomorrow evening (Thursday) in a Mutual Masterpiece entitled, "The Matinee," one of the greatest of the Thos. H. Ince productions. Eminent critics have pronounced it one of Mr. Ince's best efforts. The play is one of heart throbs, pathos, romance, and true love, and is full of every-day human interest. You should see it at the Rex tomorrow (Thursday) evening. It is in five interesting reels, and the settings are of the best.

Bentley News

Tuesday, Feb. 8th, 1910. We are sorry to report that Mr. Charles Decimus Putland passed away Feb. 2nd at the home of his son, in Bentley. He was taken ill Christmas morning, and partly owing to the weather, the weak state of his heart, and his advanced years he was not able to rally, and passed away after five weeks illness. Mr. Putland was a native of St. Leonards-on-Sea, England, where he was engaged in business for many years. He was a member of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and gave his reticent support to every good work. This was his fourth visit to Canada, and third to the West, which he greatly admired, being a firm believer in its wonderful possibilities. The funeral was held in the Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon. The building was filled to the doors by many friends, some having driven many miles to pay their last respects. Rev. A. D. Miller took the service, and was assisted by Rev. G. Driver, of Fort Saskatchewan and Mr. Freeman, of St. Leonards-on-Sea, England. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman, who are members of the same church in the Old Country, have been spending the winter in Edmonton, and are making a tour round the world, having come across the Pacific from Australia. It seems a strange coincidence that they should be here at this time, and be present at the graveside of their friend so many thousands of miles from home. In spite of the severe cold weather some beautiful wreaths were sent. Mr. W. Brooks, of Rimbey, directed the funeral. Mr. Putland was 68 years of age. His familiar figure will be greatly missed from the streets of our village by the many friends he had made since his coming amongst us. Mrs. Putland and family wish to thank all for their practical help and kindly sympathy extended to them in their bereavement. Weather milder, but not settled.

Premier Sifton could spend a few days in Bentley and see the numerous loads of grain and hogs, etc., passing through here, on long hauls to the railway. It might touch his heart, and yet him, thinking again about this district's needs.

Patrons of the Royal Bank, Lacombe branch, and Bentley sub-branch, were grieved to get notice from that institution that the sub-branch here would be closed after the 12th day of February. From our observations we thought that the sub-branch here was doing a very good business, as we have noticed many a rush hour at that place, and their open days had got to be the busy days of the week. People are not taking the news very cheerfully, and we think that the Royal Bank officials are making a mistake.

Rumors are out and around that Premier Sifton says that our railway shall be completed this coming summer. We think that it is to the interests of the Province that it is, if as we understand, nearly three hundred thousand dollars of the Provincial funds are tied up in the project. Why not send the Premier a good strong petition again, or write him with a delegation, and mail to him a copy of the "Parable of the Three Wise Men," revised.

The Ladies Aid entertainment announced for last week, also the Saturday night dance, were called off owing to the death of Mr. Putland, Sr.

Don't forget to be present at the play given by the Bentley ladies, entitled "The Old-Fashioned Ladies Aid Meeting," on Friday night, February 11th, 8 p.m. Admission, 25c; children, 10c. Come and laugh at the humorous "old women" talk and the unique costumes. Rich, rare and racy. Bentley's bevy of beautiful blondes.

He who laughs last laughs best, but you will never quit once you see the "Old-Fashioned Ladies Aid Meeting." We understand that the play is as full of stars as the heavens on a fair winter's night.

A series of lectures, under the auspices of the Local Improvement Association, will be opened by C. F. Dunro, President, on Wednesday night, February 10th, at the Club Room. Subject: "The Live Stock Industry of the Blindman Valley. Free admission to all lectures. Everyone welcome. Special interest to farmers."

Old costumes revised; lessons in gossip (which we do not need); some of our neighbors wives looking so cute we will hardly know them. Friday evening.

Rimbey News

Miss Josephine Patch will give a music recital on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 15. Miss Patch has a class of eleven pupils, each of whom will give from one to three selections. Other selections by the best talent in the neighborhood; also some vocal music. Come early, as program begins at 7.30. Ten cents admission will be charged.

The box social held last week in Rimbey town hall was a great success. Everyone had a good time. Although the weather was very bitter there was a good turnout, and people were able to appreciate the work that had been done in the hall by the management during the week, for it certainly was warm and comfortable. A gentleman was heard to say that he had been to a great many box socials and never seen a better array of boxes and baskets—37 in number and all of great variety. Many thanks are due to the young people who took part in the minstrel troupe, and also in the comedy, "The Parson's Perversity." The acting was splendid; we doubt if it could have been improved upon by professionals. Mr. Saunders, our ever-ready friend, rendered great assistance by acting as auctioneer in the absence of Mr. C. Damron, and the manner in which he handled the situation shows that he has still one more profession that he could add to the list.

Mrs. Prosser is arranging a whist drive to be held in the hall on Friday, 25th. Tickets—General admission, 50c; ladies, provide or pay 25c. The hall is now beautifully warm and comfortable. Please buy tickets beforehand of storekeepers or Mrs. Prosser, so that the right number of tables may be arranged. Ladies and gentlemen's prizes for highest score. Start off at 8.30. Proceeds, after expenses, for Red Cross.

Mrs. and Miss Pearn are in Rimbey today, having made up their minds to take trip to B. C., where Mr. Pearn and son have been for some time.

Reserve Monday, Feb. 14th, Valentine's Day, for the social at Miss Ethel Rimbey's in aid of the Girls' Red Cross. Admission, 10 cents. All girls welcome at the meetings at the High School on Tuesdays. At present the young ladies are doing fancy work for a sale in the Spring—go to go to Ogden Home at Calgary.

Blackfalds News

Grades IX, X, and Miss Hill were entertained after four o'clock on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Mr. McCullough narrowly escaped having a serious fire in his home on Wednesday morning. Fortunately the fire was discovered in time, and little damage was done.

About a dozen of the younger people drove out to surprise Ray Miller on Thursday evening, it being his birthday. The evening was spent playing card games, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Miller.

A few young people from here attended the dance at Fletcher's last Friday evening. The funds not being very well defined several upsets were reported.

Messrs. Bailey and Bills are loading a car of hay this week. Mr. Trout had a "ushing business" this week, as most of the transferring is being done through Blackfalds at present.

The Happy Thought Circle was entertained at the home of Mrs. Magee, their president, in Red Deer, Saturday afternoon. After the business meeting, a dainty lunch was served, followed by a short address given by the Captain of the Salvation Army of Red Deer.

A movement is under way to form a squad of Frontiersmen in Blackfalds. This patriotic enterprise deserves the support of everyone, and the least any able-bodied Canadian can do is to join now and help provide defence for Canada. Fight or Pay—Join the Frontiersmen.

Spruceville is in the lead again this time in the seed grain competition. The following are the lucky ones: O. S. Young 1 and 2 in oats; J. W. Southward 1st in 6-rowed barley; R. Watson, 1st in 2-rowed barley. W. H. Dodgson is away to his homestead in the north country, there, all right.

Lacombe, Jan. 22nd, 1916.

The members of the Council of above district for the year 1916—namely, Jas. Sharp, P. McLennan, J. M. Southward, A. P. Rainforth, D. Foren, and M. Douglas—met in the Town Hall, Lacombe.

The Secretary called the meeting to order and requested the new council to appoint a chairman for the present year.

It was then moved by D. Foren, seconded by P. McLennan, that Jas. Sharp be elected chairman for 1916. Carried.

Mr. Sharp then thanked the members for the honor conferred upon him, but at the same time he thought that it was only right that he should be passed around, he having occupied the position now for twelve years, and would have liked to have seen some one else take a turn, but if it was really their wish he would fill the position to the best of his ability.

The Secretary-Treasurer then gave an account of the last year's financial affairs, and was pleased to report that the district as a whole was out of debt at the present time, having a small balance on hand.

Moved by Foren, seconded by Douglas, that the Secretary-Treasurer's salary be $550 for all duties connected with the position during the year 1916. Carried.

Moved by Rainforth, seconded by Foren, that E. W. Simpson be elected Secretary-Treasurer. Carried.

Moved by Foren, seconded by Douglas, that the Secretary be instructed to write Howard Stutbury regarding what would be the duties required of a "Returned Soldiers' Bureau," as from information received from the Department of Municipal Affairs, the Council has no power to appropriate the funds of district outside of municipal affairs. Carried.

Moved by Southward, seconded by Douglas, that the Council as a whole, including the Secretary, be appointed a committee to be entitled, "The Returned Soldiers' Bureau." Carried.

Moved by Southward, seconded by McLennan, that the rate of assessment for 1916 be 64 cents per acre. Carried.

Moved by Foren, seconded by McLennan, that the rate of wages be 50 cents per hour for man and team, and 25c. per hour for man. Carried.

Moved by Southward, seconded by Douglas, that the Secretary be instructed to make out a new assessment roll for the district and present it to the Council at their next meeting for inspection of the several Councillors. Carried.

Moved by Foren, seconded by Rainforth, that all returning officers be paid ten dollars; also rental for polling places at the rate of $2 per day. Carried.

RED CROSS NOTES

The sum of $41.25 was cleared from the concert given by the returned soldiers on Feb. 4th. This has been given to the Red Cross Society in Edmonton.

The Red Cross Society acknowledges, with thanks, the parcel of shirts and socks sent in by Mrs. J. D. Cumberland from the ladies of Wittenburg.

Not long ago there was a report going in this neighborhood that the Red Cross Society was selling socks. The name of a gentleman in the country was given to the secretary as being able to give full information on the matter, but he evidently could not or would not verify the tale, but up to date no answer has been received from him.

DEATH OF MRS. FLEMING

Thos. Fleming, of Lacombe, received a copy of the MacGregor (Man.) Herald of January 2nd, containing the following account of his mother's death:

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon of an old resident of this place, in the person of Mrs. James Fleming, Mrs. Fleming died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stinson, of Plum, Man., on Monday, 24th inst., at the ripe old age of 62.

She was a helpless invalid for many years, but bore the cross laid upon her with such cheerfulness and Christian fortitude that no one could come into her presence without feeling the better for it. She was a kind and devoted wife and mother, and the wish of her bereaved family is that a part of the mantle of her Christian life may fall on and influence them.

She leaves to mourn her loss four sons and three daughters, viz.: William, of Carroll, Man.; Thomas, Lacombe, Alta.; Isaac, MacGregor, Man.; John S., Salmon Arm, B.C.; Mrs. W. T. Stinson, Winnipeg, Man.; Mrs. Alex. Logan, Nesbit, Man.; and Mrs. J. J. Stinson, besides a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

10. R. M. of Success, No. 336. Whereas, large amounts of money are required to be raised for Red Cross and Patriotic purposes; and whereas, it is deemed necessary in order to more effectively apportion the burden of expenses and to provide substantial additions of a permanent character to the generous voluntary donations of the people; therefore, be it resolved, That this Association, in Convention assembled, petition the Government of the Province to collect a levy of one mill on the dollar on the assessed value of all rateable land within the Province, based on equalized assessment, and that the fund be held by the Provincial Treasurer, in trust, for the patriotic purposes aforesaid, levy to be made in 1916, and be continued as long as the opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, it may be necessary.

11. R. M. of Garfield, No. 574. That this Association petition the Dominion Government to grant such adequate pensions to disabled soldiers, and also to the widows and children of soldiers who die on active service, as will enable these dependants to live respectably, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada, and also the copy of this resolution be sent to each Rural Municipality and Local Improvement District Secretary in the Province, with the request that they, as individual organizations, send similar resolutions to Sir Robert Borden, Premier of Canada.

Resolved, That the Provincial Government, through this Association, be requested to pass legislation either by Order in Council or otherwise, giving power to Local Improvement Districts and Rural Municipalities to rebate all taxes imposed on land by them to the extent of one half section for each settler who has enlisted for the Great War, such rebate of taxes to cover land in actual use and development at the time of enlistment and not to cover speculative holdings. 13. R. M., Beddington, No. 250. Whereas, it is our opinion and belief of the Council of Beddington Rural Municipality, No. 250, that the support and assistance required of the rural districts, to those organizations now engaged in the work referred to, should be collected uniformly and systematically.

Therefore, be it resolved, That this Convention of the Alberta Association of Local Improvement Districts and Rural Municipalities respectfully memorialize the Provincial Government to cause such amendments to be made to the Local Improvement and Rural Municipalities Acts as the present Session of the Legislature may be necessary to empower Local Improvement Districts and Rural Municipalities in the Province of Alberta, to impose and collect a uniform rate of taxation for patriotic purposes; the proceeds to be collected by the Secretary-Treasurer of all Local Improvement Districts and Municipalities in the same manner as other taxes, and the amounts forwarded from time to time to His Royal Highness, The Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, in his official capacity as President of the Canadian Patriotic Association, to be distributed by him in such manner as he may deem wise.

14. R. M., Burlington, No. 34. Whereas, it is deemed detrimental to the best interests of a Municipality that the offices of Secretary and Treasurer be constantly changing hands with the election of each new Council by reason of the knowledge of past events, bearing upon Municipal matters held by the said Secretaries and Treasurers, and believing that such officials should be known to be qualified by certain training for the position applied for; therefore,

Be it resolved, That the appointment to the office of Secretary or Treasurer, or Secretary and Treasurer, be made by examination similar to that used in the Dominion civil service, the details to be prescribed by the Minister of Municipalities. In lieu of such examination a service of three years by a Secretary or Treasurer, applying for re-appointment subsequent to the adoption of this amendment, shall be deemed proper qualification; the officials appointed under this amendment being removable from office only by reason of fraud or dereliction to duty, satisfactorily proven to a majority of the Council by the Minister of Municipalities.

And, be it further Resolved, That we instruct the Secretary to mail a copy of this Resolution to the Secretary of the Alberta Association of Rural Municipalities, requesting that same be brought before the Annual Convention, to be held in Edmonton in February, 1916.

15. R. M., Burlington, No. 34. Whereas, it is impossible for a Returning Officer to prepare and have printed ballots for the Election of Councillors and for Balloting on By-Laws in the time allowed by the Municipal Act, Province of Alberta, in outlying Rural Municipalities in which there are no printing offices; therefore,

Be it Resolved, That we recommend that Sec. 107 of the Rural Municipality Act be amended by striking out the word "beginning" of the fourth line of said Section 107, on page 25, and substitute therefor the word "second"

16. R. M., Burlington, No. 34. Whereas a certain portion of the Municipal and School taxes is levied on each year by reason of parties filing upon land, enjoying the privileges of citizenship for a period and then abandoning same; therefore,

Be it Resolved, That we request the Alberta Association of Rural Municipalities to petition the Dominion Government to amend the Dominion Land Regulations by adding the following clause: "When land has been filed upon, taxes allowed to accrue against same, and then abandoned, that the taxes so accrued be made a charge against the land so abandoned and payable by the party next making entry upon same."

17. R. M., Burlington, No. 34. Whereas, the past six years have demonstrated the fact that farmers in Southern Alberta can not rely upon the growing of grain as a certain source of revenue; and, whereas, it is advocated by all Western Agriculturalists, and demonstrated that Mixed or Dairy Farming is proving successful where tried; and, whereas, the majority of farmers in that portion of Alberta above mentioned have not the funds to sustain farming; therefore,

Be it Resolved, That we request the Alberta Association of Rural Municipalities to petition the Provincial Legislature to amend the Rural Municipality Act so that it shall permit a Rural Municipality to use its credit to secure a limited number of Dairy Cattle each year to be distributed among responsible farmers Council suggests that all Secretaries of the Municipality, distributionaries or Secretary-Treasurers of

18. R. M., Lakeview, No. 454. Whereas the cost of enlisting, equipping and maintaining the Canadian forces in their partici- pation in the Empire's war, with the necessary ambulances, hos- pital and religious departments, and the care of disabled soldiers and their dependent families, is a necessary and honorable obli- gation of the nation, it is imper- ative that these should be met- orally and effectively met. Therefore, while gladly recogniz- ing the worthy public spirit ac- tuating those who with splendid generosity are contributing vol- untarily to these objects, we recommend that the Dominion Government undertake the whole task, financing it and equalizing the burden by a system of direct taxation on all land values, in- cluding the C. P. R., throughout the Dominion, supplemented by an income tax and a tax upon the profits resulting from the manufacture of war munitions.

19. R. M., Lakeview, No. 454. Whereas, we believe that any person found guilty of graft in connection with contracts for war supplies is a traitor to his country; therefore we recom- mend that such persons taking undue advantage of war condi- tions in this respect be treated as becomes persons convicted of treason.

Parliament Building Destroyed by Fire

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—Canada's magnificent parliament building, which cost more than $5,000,000, lay in ruins today, swept by a fire attributed by some to a bomb or incendiary machine. At least six lives were lost, and many persons were injured. The fire was under control at 3 a.m., today, after raging furiously for six hours.

Several persons who were burned or otherwise hurt in fleeing through the corridors before the swift rush of the flames, or in escaping from the windows, are in hospitals today. One of those most severely injured is Hon. Macdougall, minister of agriculture, who was burned about the head. Michael Clark, member for Red Deer, suffered burns about the hands. Sir Robert Borden, the Canadian premier, escaped without injury.

The fire broke out in the reading-room in the end nearest the chamber of the House of Commons. The first intimation the members received of the danger they were in, came when a messenger rushed into the chamber and shouted a warning.

Mr. Loggie, of Northumberland, was speaking when the alarm was given. He stopped speaking and the members fled out of the chamber deliberately. It was not until they reached the corridors where the smoke was dense that they realized the danger of the situation. There all was hurry and confusion, and everyone was hurrying toward the exits. In a few minutes with the exception of a few members and officials who were imprisoned in the upper rooms, by the dense smoke in the corridors, everyone was out of the building. These jumped into nets or came down ladders placed in position by the firemen.

The death list stands at seven. The bodies recovered thus far are those of Messrs. Bray and Morin, Deputy Clerk Laplante, Dominion, Constable Alphonse Desjardins, A. Desjardins, plumber; R. B. Law, M.P., and Randolph Francis.

Elkhorn News

We think we have had our share of cold weather this winter, and wind too. Last Saturday and Sunday the wind was something fierce; it blew night and day. There is also plenty of snow-drifts. We have heard it said that there was no stormy days here; not so this winter. One house in our district was almost snowed in, the snow drifted so high against the door during the night. They could not get out in the morning except through the window. Now, as February has come in we are in hopes that we will have warmer weather.

Our last news was sent in before the election for Councillors. The election went off very quietly here, and was held at the home of Mr. J. C. Smith, the returning officer. Three candidates ran for the honor, and all polled a fair share of votes as a large number turned out to take advantage of their franchise. Mr. James Kinley was the lucky winner, being now a representative of Local Improvement District, No. 429.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beach gave a dance at their new home on the last Friday evening in January. The evening was rather unpleasant, but a goodly number of the young people turned out. Some of the young fellows got left. This is leap year, and the girls are not slow. Probably it is because of leap year that we have so much cold weather. It is to be hoped, if that's the case, that we won't have another for eight years instead of four.

Hope it will be warmer this month so as to thaw out what is left over from last month.

Our young hunters are still getting the fur-bearing animals. Charles Hubbard trapped a nice lynx last week.

I read of the death of an old hunter in the East who had killed 52 bears and 30 moose. Quite a record that for one man.

Very little news to write about in our quiet valley; next too cold for pleasure.

I guess those who came in here last Spring and got a taste of the cold weather will feel like pulling out for a warmer climate.

As the price of grain is going up, the farmers will make good. Markets are good now for those who have anything to sell, but not so good as in the East.

The sold weather has been very hard on the fowl as well as cattle; not many eggs, only a few feathers.

Those that went from here to the Helmer Hand, which met at Mr. and Mrs. Kanan's, report a very pleasant time. Dancing was the chief amusement. Some were rather late in getting home.

It's a good thing that paper is cheap; the Bad Lands scribe must use quite a lot.

Gull Lake News

This weather we are getting now is O.K., and we only hope it continues the rest of the winter.

We notice of late a number of the gentlemen of this district wending their way on foot to Bentley. It happened early in the morning, with their hands or a hot iron, or each jaw. Dr. Laughton, they claim, is a painless extractor of teeth, and would recommend him to any other suffering mortals.

One of the champion card-players was beaten the other night owing to a swollen jaw, just winning one game out of seven. He claims such a calamity has never happened before.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hansen are visiting at their son Walter's, east of Lacombe, over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Gih King are in the district again and staying at Ernest King's for a few days. They came in last week from the claim.

A number from here attended the funeral of Mr. Putland, of Bentley, on Sunday. The Helping Hand will be held at Mrs. Jno. Damron's a week from Wednesday, Feb. 16th.

Clive News

News is very scarce these days. We're not so bad off for coal these days, Fred Perry having unloaded another car a few days ago.

The U.F.A. will hold a special meeting in Brereton's Hall, on Saturday, February 12th. Every member is requested to be present.

Lieut. Robert H. Gregory, of the 49th Battalion, was reported seriously wounded last week. The members of the School Board have sent the following letter to T. A. Brereton, Secretary-Treasurer of Clive School District: "You are hereby instructed to notify Mr. Hoyle that the Clive School Board are convinced of their inability to meet the running expenses of the Clive School and carry the heavy financial burdens incidental to the present organization, and that we feel it incumbent upon ourselves to give the Principal thirty days notice of the discontinuance of his services. Signed: A. A. Smith (Chairman), J. T. Reynolds, Jas. Tees." Just why such a step as this has been taken is not clear, as the School Board, at their annual meeting held a week or so ago, decided that it was their ambition and desire to keep the Clive school up to its present efficiency, and decided that by adding 2 mills more on to the taxes for this year it could be done. Our school has obtained a gratifying report from the inspector, which goes to show that Mr. Hoyle is highly qualified, but how about our high school, which has made such rapid progress under the able leadership of our principal? We are of the opinion that the School Board is taking a step which is unnecessary. What is to become of the high school grades now? The tax-payer must pay his increased school tax and then bear the extra expense of sending his children out of town to some business could you do it? Well, when you are done with time it will be the same as crossing the street and you will be just the same as you are now. If you want to be as you are on this. There is going to be no great miracle to make you what you are not. Would you like to have to go on year in and year out forever just the same kind of man you are now? If you want to be as you are now, we had a few people in our own neighborhood last year and this who had no tomorrow. With all possible pleasures thrown in, how long is this life? Say 80 years. How long are we here? For once your corner in the present situation, we forget the future, and the need of being prepared for it.

When we received our Western Globe last week we thought that Chas. H. Halpin was going to start in on his paper. We were relieved to see from his statement that the cause was L.S.D. and not D.T's.

Your Bentley correspondent says we were in that burg on Friday looking for material for rubbish. For once your correspondent is quite correct. We were in Bentley looking for rubbish. Having none of the commodity in the Bad Lands we have to get a supply somewhere, and Bentley is the finest spot for rubbish. We are not sure if your correspondent seems to fear that the supply may be exhausted by sending him on that score. We have gone over the ground carefully, and have satisfied ourselves that the supply will last a lifetime.

Bad Lands News

From remarks we have overheard, a good many people look over the Bad Lands every day to see if any one is getting a roast, or for the latest joke. They would hardly look there for anything serious. New Year, the time for turning new leaves, is past, and probably a good many pages have been turned back. Hades is supposed to be paved with good resolves; if so, we have macadamized a good long street. Even such a giddy goat as ourselves has serious thoughts sometimes. What are we all striving for? To make a living? Yes, and more. There isn't one of us who wouldn't jump at the chance if we were offered Rockefeller's wealth. Where will that wealth put Rockefeller when he passes in his checks? Not a little farther than Rockefeller has fitted himself for the future in the past. What do you expect to do when you are done with time? Get a golden harp and start in to sing hymns and psalms and spiritual songs? Say, would you feel comfortable at that job; have you done anything up to now to train your talents that way? If you were told to slip across the street and start that

THE GERMAN TACTICS OF THE LIBERALS AT OTTAWA

At Ottawa we are being treated to a fine exhibition of German tactics. The speaker session was called for the purpose of extending the life of Parliament and of dealing with only those measures that it might be necessary to adopt to further our interests in the war. The speaker from the Throne was the best at the record. It indicated that nothing but such things as we have mentioned were to be introduced.

But what do we find? We find in the reply to the Speech from the Throne, the Opposition members devoting themselves entirely to violent abuse of the most mischievous and slanderous nature, worthy only of stump speakers engaged in a bitterly contested election campaign, where decency is ignored and truth is at a discount. Speaker after speaker has been put up to waste the time of Parliament and to waste the money of the people, merely that reckless charges and contemptible insinuations may be placed upon Hansard, for future use in a general election, whenever a general election may become necessary.

Parliament has been in session for nearly three weeks, yet at the time at which we write the debate on the Speech still goes on. No proper business has been discussed. "Scandal" charges have been hurled across the floor—and political party "tricks" have been turned into a laughing-stock. A fellow named Carvell, who has always been more or less of a blackguard in the House of Commons, has excelled himself in vilification. He has grossly insulted everyone who has had any connection, direct or indirect, with sending supplies to the Allies to enable them to carry on the war. Because these men made money out of their transactions, they are thieves. If they lost their money, they are hars. The mere fact that they answered the Empire's call to turn their businesses over to the service of the Imperial Government is in this chap's opinion conclusive proof that they are a set of scoundrels.

And this is a representative type of the Opposition. Carvell is no worse—except that he is decidedly more vulgar—than Hon. William Pugsley. He has an even more respect in one named Kyle. (The Kites are related to the Hawks and Vultures). Kyle is just as mendacious, just as much bent upon discouraging Canadian help to prevent Britain from the real or record in the pages of Hansard as violently denouncing Canada's participation in the defence of the Empire. For that matter, so is Pugsley—and so are all the other members of the Opposition. Indeed, there is a strong enough real British sentiment and real British loyalty in the whole aggregation that sits on the left of the Speaker to save even one man who might be suspected of treason from the real world. Their whole history is rotten. When intimidated by public opinion, they will profess strong British sentiments. At the same time, every action of theirs is designed, obviously, to prevent Britain from obtaining aid from this country, by the simple process of sandbagging, blackguarding and ridiculing—as a thief every man who lifts a hand to render the needed assistance.

How long will the government tolerate the abuse and the obstruction of this precious outfit? How long will the patience of Sir Robert Borden endure? Surely it has been tried beyond all reasonable limits already. The people of Canada will soon themselves lose patience with him if he does not show that the end of his toleration has been reached.

This demand that the Opposition is putting up for an "investigation" of the Shell Committee is an insolent sham designed primarily to create the impression that the Shell Committee was made up of a set of crooks for whom the Government is responsible. This would be "party advantage." But the effect of these slanderous demands is nothing but a direct and effective injury to British and Canadian interests at the present time. Who desires to be painted as a crook by every cheap partisan politician who may be pleased to abuse the privileges of the House of Commons? It is quite as pernicious, quite as destructive to Canadian and Imperial interests, to denounce and insult every man who wears a uniform. One would discourage sensitive men—from a country of eight million people! Is every man a patriot? Is every man honest? Certainly not. One has but to look over the benches of the Opposition to have those questions answered conclusively.

But what if a few score, or a few hundred, men who sold supplies to the Government in this great emergency were unreliable? What if they were crooks? What if in some cases they managed to "put something over" the supply inspectors, swamped with the rush of handling a business of a magnitude never dreamed of in Canada before? Have you never bought an inferior article in the best of faith, only to find that you have been deceived? Certainly you have—and so has everyone else. In order to eliminate the practical certainty that crookedness would be attempted by some contractors selling war supplies to the Government, to the purchasing Commission, or to the Shell Committee, it would be necessary that we should have in Canada absolutely no dishonest man. The fact that we have jails and policemen proves that we have not yet reached that Utopian condition.

Any imposition that may have been practiced at the expense of the Government, or of the British Government, in this country is a thing so trivial in comparison with the magnitude of the task in the hands of the officials making the purchases that no one but a despicable creature, with a soul small enough to drip without friction through the hole in a hollow lead pencil, would ever stoop to make it the subject of debate in the Canadian Parliament, when the fate of our Empire, the fate of civilization, hangs in the balance and demands the sole, untroubled attention of the Ministers of the Crown, who have the duty and the responsibility for making our part in the great war a splendid and glorious success.

If there should be anything in these false charges, there will be ample opportunity at a proper time to prove that there is. To enter the Administration at the present time, when everyone who has the slightest sincere regard for the interests of his country should be putting forth every effort of brain, of heart, and of hand to assist the Administration, comes so near to being treason that we feel justified in so naming it. And this obstruction, this interference, this petty annoyance, comes from men who are already suspect. The object of the interference, the enforcing of the waste of invaluable time at a vital moment, all comes from men who prevented Canada from doing her duty three years ago—who ridiculed the possibility of war, who expressed unbounded admiration for the German Kaiser, who threatened a declaration of independence in this country if the Government should persist in its policy of going to the assistance of the Motherland!

This is the Canadian Parliamentary Opposition. It is a humiliation, a disgrace to us forever that we have grown such a breed under the Union Jack which they soil with their presence in its vicinity.

Farmers and others wishing to buy meat in quarters or large pieces can buy from us at wholesale prices by ordering ahead. A. Gilmour.

Good for the Whole Family

"Cough" Chamberlain. "A good cough remedy is one that can be depended upon to cure coughs. Not one that cures some particular cough, but coughs in general. It must be a cough remedy that can be relied upon for all the different coughs that are so prevalent. While the causes of all coughs are primarily the same, yet the condition of the patient is what makes the difference in the nature of the cough. Coughs of healthy persons are easier to cure than the coughs of invalids. The powerful convulsive cough of a large man is harder to cure than the cough of a baby. If you get a remedy that will cure a large man's cough and yet not be too powerful for the baby, you have a good cough remedy."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Is just this kind of remedy. It is good for any member of the family. It relieves coughs of all kinds. It is the product of much thought and study to produce an ideal cough remedy. It is composed of things which cure colds and soothe the inflamed lining of the throat. It acts as easily and safely on the young as on the old, and is the ideal remedy for coughs, colds, croup, influenza, whooping cough and bronchitis.
